KANYANA

Harry, this one's for you

EDITORIAL

Firstly, I would just like to say - that I am very happy that you are reading this and not me anymore! Apart from the fact that I took overly long to produce this Kanyana, I thoroughly enjoyed doing it. The experience was definitely a learning one. The most recurring lesson though is that there is way more to putting a magazine together than you would think! There were definitely other lessons that Murphy taught me though, like :

- If you take ten rolls of great photos - you will then discover that the film is faulty
- The longest report you type into the computer will get deleted and will be the only one you haven't saved somewhere else
- When the convenor finishes their job is indirectly proportional to when you get (Khemar's) report, or they will leave the country
- If you have a sporting photo you will lose it before it can be bromided

There are a few people I would like to thank:

Yong-Wah Goh, for his excellent cartoons; Bonita Tasker, for her artistic creations; Matthew Keliher, my printer connection; all those people who lent me their photos (even though they thought they would never see them again - almost true); Tim Woodman, for his very sound advise and photography skills (even if they were a bit rowing orientated); Nic Saw also for photographing expertise; and IH residents in general for not lynching me and being such a great bunch of people. Hope you enjoy it!

Bridie McKavanagh (Holistic Editor Extra - ordinaire)

P.S. I would also like to dedicate this edition of Kanyana to my family and all those who took bets against me

THOUGHTS FROM OUR DIRECTOR:

Freedom, Individualism, and Community

During my two years at Friends I was surprisingly unconscious of the wonderfulness of that time and place. Within a week I felt immensely comfortable there but never gave a thought as to why. I began to thrive - intellectually, physically, psychologically, spiritually. But this thriving was no more conscious than that of a parched, drooping plant responding to the gift of rain.

I am afraid I took Friends for granted, never stopping to analyse my good fortune. It is only now in retrospect that I am sufficiently aware to make that analysis. I wish I could remember more. I wish I had taken note at the time of sociological details, now forever lost, which might have helped to explain why or how Friends was gifted with such a unique culture. But I did not. I cannot tell you the whys and wherefores. but I can remember enough to tell you that it was indeed unique.

Despite the hardness of the wooden benches in the Quaker meetinghouse, which was an integral part of the school, I remember that all the boundaries between people were soft. We did not call our teachers by their first names, nor did we "socialise" with them. It was Miss Ehlers, Doctor Hunter. But they gently teased us, and we students gently, but gleefully, teased them in return. I was never afraid of them. In fact, most of them were able to laugh at themselves.

There were perhaps twenty in my class. A few of us boys wore ties; most did not. There was no dress code. (Strangely, I cannot remember any codes - possibly there were some - yet no one ever seemed to get in trouble.) We were twenty differently dressed adolescents - boys and girls - from every borough of New York City and from utterly different backgrounds. We were Jewish, agnostic, Catholic, Protestant. I remember no

Muslims, but had there been, it would have made no difference. Our parents were physicians and lawyers, engineers and labourers, artists and editors. Some had splendid apartments; others lived in tiny, cramped walk-ups. This is what I remember most: how different we all were.

Some of us had A averages and some C-. Some of us were obviously brighter than others, prettier, handsomer, more physically mature, more sophisticated. But there were no cliques. There were no outcasts. Everyone was respected. There were parties on most weekends, but no one ever drew up a list of whom to invite and whom not to invite; it was assumed that everyone was welcome. Some hardly ever came to the parties, but that was because they lived far away or worked or had something better to do. Some of us dated; some did not. Some of us were closer than others, but no one was ever excluded. Subjectively, my profoundest memory is a nonmemory: I can never remember wanting or trying to be anyone other than myself. No one else seemed to want me to be different or want to be other than herself or himself. Perhaps for the first time in my life I was utterly free to be me.

I was also, unconsciously, part of a para- dox. Friends created an atmosphere in which individualism flourished. Yet, regardless of our individual backgrounds or religious persuasion, we were in truth all "Friends". I remember no divisiveness; I remember much cohesiveness. Even allowing for the distortion of memory, these were indeed golden years. Yet if I said everything was perfect, it would be a lie. And I could go on. But even though I had no idea what to make of it at the time, one thing is clear in retrospect: during those two years I experienced my first real taste of community. (M Scott Peck, The Different Drum, pp.29-32)

I can say no more. In the Friends School we recognise International House. We are not perfect but we strive for a college of freedom and individualism in a context of community.

I salute all who have done so much to turn this ideal into reality. I salute all who continue to strive for unity within diversity. May Brotherhood Prevail!

Dr Neil Holm
Director

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

1994 has been a year of many memories, a few of which will be found in the coming pages of this edition of Kanyana. Many changes were made and finalised within the college this last year - some of them important and others not. Hopefully some changes will be positive and useful to the future residents of IH. 1994 was full of debate and controversies but it also had a strong rejuvenating effect on the Student Club and if students continue to work together perhaps it will carry on to the advantage of everybody.

The Student Club took some clear steps in the right direction this year and for this thanks must be extended to all those who helped; most importantly to the executive - Katie, Alison, and Rachel. IH excelled in its daily life and intercollege activities this year. Soiree, ICC sport, Sunday Suppers and many other activities were made fantastic through the efforts of various IH individuals. The 1994 year was also marked by a tremendous energy put into college by all - emphasised by the establishment of tower sports and the renewed involvement in cultural activities. The parties, ball and BBQ's were of an equal standard. The Student Club has definitely done a fantastic job through the sweat of our convenors and the support and enthusiasm of IH's residents.

On the other side of life, I hope everybody left IH with memories and feelings that they can look back on through the hard work put together by Bridie. I hope IH has been just as much an experience for others as it has been for me and I wish everybody the best in the future.

Good Luck & Al-Salamu 'Al-Eikum

Taimor Hazou - President

TREASURER'S REPORT

FROM THE EXCHEQUER.....

Running the Treasury equates to being in charge of an intricate system of cheques and balances - and Telecom bills. Throughout this year several groups of individuals have learnt what it is like to be harassed by me for bits of carbonised paper otherwise known to the World as "receipts". These receipts seem to float around the Universe in very strange ways and, at times, fall into the abyss of Black Holes, or recycling bins (along with the banana peels). Something somewhere tells me that the auditor won't like this one.

Then again, the job of Treasurer can be a very rewarding one - it will be the only chance I will ever get to bank over $20,000 in a single day. Yes, the people at the

SPONSORSHIP REPORT

Tomorrow. A week. The day after the day after that. They are all the future. Why are they not the present?

My job was simple, to turn tomorrow into today. I once caught sight of a small to medium size sponsorship beastie (size does not matter according to some), it hovered on the brink between today and tomorrow, but alas the door closed and he was not allowed to come out and play. I asked a few people if they had seen such a creature, but they told me, doesn't seem to be any around, but if they manage to catch on, then they will call me. Some people I asked ignored me in the hope that I would go away, I new their game, but there was nothing I could do.

Rune, maybe the bait I to work last year, but the trapwell, you live and learn. Always ture is small. Good Luck, you'll was using was wrong, it seemed per was in the beastie's pen, oh use the big net, even if the crea-need it.

BOG REPORT

The BOG (Bastion of Greed) is a nefarious institution devoted to world domination. We meet once a term to debase ourselves in front of our depraved gods. All used sacrifices are promptly recycled to the kitchen.

Our tentacles of evil have already infiltrated all sectors of this society. A major accomplishment has been the amendment of the BOG Constitution. The Constitution Committee has been toiling to produce a document which hopefully makes BOG run smoother and (the horror of it) greater student Club input. Another achievement has been the setting up of the International money laundering operation fund raising organization. down the Walkabout phones tives in the milk machine sometimes changes colour?). The meeting were a jolly good time. Good luck to Ed and Chaumin. I hope Ed doesn't take to the free beer to enthusiastically

Female sports

Well finally the year has come to an end. But it has been a sensational year with many a brilliant moment on the sporting field. The girls had a great year being competitive in most sports. I must thank every female in college who contributed to the sports scene in one way or another. I must also congratulate all those girls gaining ICC selection - Linda Cooke, Penny Soper, Yoriko Yamada, Takako Kakiuchi, and Rachel Kerslake. But most impressively Penny Soper on her outstanding performance gaining her an ICC full blue. College full blues were awarded to Penny Soper and Rachel Kerslake. Judith Rasmussen was awarded a half blue. Finally I would like to thank all the convenors for helping me out. Take it easy!

NETBALL

After dominating ICC in 1993 we had a reputation to live up to which I must admit is pretty impressive. And impress we did. We had a great season being placed fourth overall. Congratulations must be extended to Penny Soper for ICC selection and to all those girls who contributed to a great season.

LADIE'S ROWING '94

CHEYENNE WALKER - ROWING CO-ORDINATOR

I.H. rowing team for 1994 has been the strongest for years with a record number of two female teams competing this season. After entering late in the competition, we soon showed I.H. were not out.

The first few regatta's were mainly for experience. There is no ICC points until the last regatta which ICC organises. Due to the little experience our teams had, we soon worked out what was the go:-

- * If you want to make sure the boat will be there at the start of the race - get it yourself
- * Do not row too far beyond the starting line - or you'll miss hearing the starting gun
- * Always jump the start - like everybody else
- * Don't talk, panic or breathe at the start - or you'll miss hearing the starting gun
- * Make sure you have got a cocks - it helps
- * Make sure your cocks know which way to steer - you don't have to row as much if you go in a straight line
- * Always get lane one - it's shorter
- * Don't listen to your coach at all times - he lies
- * Row past the finishing line and other crew boats - it looks like you won in the end
- * Be careful docking the boat - it's very fragile, especially when you have a collision

The crew soon regretted joining rowing after the second week of 5am starts for training three days a week. The colder weather later in the season didn't help but when we started seeing improvements in our technique and the closer finishes in the races. we soon settled into a routine.

Competition this year was very fierce in all events. The standard was extremely high through out the season.

Our regatta - What a Day!! I am so grateful I.H. is a sharing college - there was alot of sharing of work that day. Steve and I would like to say a special thank you to Clayton for all the extra work he gave us. Nutmeg was a smashing hit on the bank (Just ask the houses across the river). And all the girls knew just how to sell those hot dogs and beer.

As the afternoon sun sank behind the horizon and the clean-up mode took over, it was a pleasure to hear Security congratulate us on the successful regatta this year.

I do have to say, that the fastest time we rowed was when the 'John Oxley' coal ship was behind us. I never felt so intimidated in such a small rowing boat.

The crews not only made a commitment to I.H. but also to themselves. I could not ask for any more commitment from them as they gave me a full 100%. Thank you for making my job easier.

The final results for the season wasn't encouraging but better than no points at all. 1994 was successful for I.H. rowing and we look forward to a better season in 1995. A special congratulations to all rowers who participated throughout the season and all the supporters on a job well done. Thank you for your support. A special thank you to our coaches, David and Cameron. See you next year!!

○○○○○Female Squash○○○○○

The infamous I.H. female squash team achieved more than one major feat in 1994. In fact, we achieved three!

1. We had all picked up a squash racquet before venturing onto the court (i.e., we had experience!?).
2. We actually trained.
3. We managed to beat Grace college (i.e., we did not lose completely!)

Meanwhile, we still had a lot of fun, although we seemed to be the source of our own entertainment. Running headlong into walls (who was that?) and serving - only to completely miss actually making contact with the ball (I think we all managed to do this at some time or other!) were amongst a few of the specialties. Thanks to Eveline (our star squash player), Hereadae, Kerry, Jody and Peng who went out there every week and played hard. Thanks also to those lone voices amongst the other rowdy college supporters who were very much appreciated!

MARLIES BROWN (Female Squash Convenor 1994)

Softball

This year the team did a great job to come second in ICC. The season started well with a number of girlyies ready to hit, field and throw the ball. The first five games of the season IH dominated - we held most teams to a limited amount of runs as we mastered the not so difficult game of softball. Much thanks must go to our coach Emma Kerslake, who was great and even turned up to 8am games on time with horrific hangovers. Her words of wisdom throughout the season were beneficial in keeping the team spirit up. I would like to thank all the girls for turning up and congratulate Linda and Rachel on there ICC selection. Finally I must thank all those IH people who came down on numerous occasions and supported the girls, it was fantastic.

THE TEAM

LINDA - the meanest and best catcher of ICC.
PENNY - great season on first base.
YUKO - our overseas pickup and did a great job.
JUDITH - super Judy at short stop
KAYE - showed her skills on third base.
ANGIE G - filled in and showed us what she is made of.
ANGIE C - our Gold Coast connection, had a great season.
JO - centre field guru just ask her.
SARAH - I don't really know what to do.
SAM - the utility player, had a super season.
MEI MAY - did the job in the infield.
RACHEL - the pitcher from hell.

RACHEL KERSLAKE - Softball Convenor

TOUCH FOOTBALL REPORT

Once again the women of IH sallied forth in the name of God, Country and International House, to take on all comers on the Touch Footy field. Although Rachel mentioned in last years' account that there was no other direction but upwards following last year's efforts, she failed to canvas the option of non-progression. Indeed, with great aplomb and enthusiasm we successfully defended our 1993 position of 7th - of course it's all in protest of the semi - professional taint certain colleges are bringing into ICC Competition. IH of course, steered well clear of such a smear on our reputation (although Alby and Helen had up worried a few times with some impressive tries).

I commend the girls one their diligence , even after their first encounter on field with the dreaded ponytailed red team, they just kept coming back for more gruelling workouts with our Super Coached Lano and Toshie. Thanks to guys for providing some worthy opposition at training, to Beno and Stu for their faithful support and Megan, Bridie, Alby, Helen, Vicky, Naoko, Mei-May, Marlies, Judith, Kaye, Herbie, and Khemar for being heaps of fun and making the job of convenor so easy. And RE-ALLY HONESTLY girls, I think the only way is up for next year.

GOOD LUCK -
Katie Stride

Volleyball

What the players had to say about female volleyball in 1995:

"We were thrown together - our hot, sweaty bodies moving as one which sometimes also managed to come into contact with the ball..."

"Volleyball is the best game there is to share companionship and time with the people around you..."

"We went, we played, we stuffed around even more, we won a few, we kicked it - the volleyball that is! Though we didn't start out too fabulously, never was there a time when volleyball wasn't fun... we certainly got better as the season progressed and all our trainings and climbing under that bloody fence really seems worth it..."

"We had a whole bunch of ambitious female students, an even more ambitious coach, and a ball - we had some serious training sessions... In a word we were ready for a battle every week. We became better if we won a game and encouraged ourselves if we lost. We took it with a sense of humour and that's what it's supposed to be!"

"We practices together, we made bruises together, we walked to the gym together, we played games together, we felt bitter together, we were delighted together, we encouraged each other, and we enjoyed volleyball together!!"

"It was not a mere opportunity to play against other colleges, but was a wonderful opportunity to make better relationships in college as well..."

Volleyball became a true I.H. sport. We may not have won that many games, but we certainly won in the area of 'team spirit'. Everyone went out each game just to enjoy the sport and play the best they could. In doing so, our surprising wins were the well - earned reward, and we did end up placed 4th overall. Takako and Yoriko earned themselves ICC volleyball nominations and I think everyone deserves congratulations for their playing.

The volleyball team would also like to thank Mark Keir, our coach for doing a the miraculour job of converting a scraggy pack of mere girls of great diversity in ability into one balanced and efficient killing machine with a famous reputation (for their cheerfulness).
Quote "...and remember girls, just go out there and have FUN..."

Male Sports Report

This article will be short, succinct, to-the-point, brief and without too much extrapolation. My respective convenors have hopefully said it all regarding performances in particular sports.

Overall, I'd say it was a successful year, getting better as it progressed. After being routed first semester in cricket (yeah, good on ya, Watto), hockey (sticks down, halves in front), squash and basketball, things could only get better. but first semester was not a total shocker. We turned up (and were competitive) to the swimming carnival and got boats in the water in rowing and even held our own regatta. These three examples were indicative of the overall attitude of people this year, which is good too see. Participation was excellent. People got involved and played sports they might not normally have got the chance to were they not at IH. we competed at every ICC event (bar the cross-country relay - due to circumstances beyond our control).

Second semester was better - wins in rugby, soccer and volleyball pleasing players and spectators alike.

The IH-Cromwell Barbarians

Anyway, thanks to all my convenors and good luck to Watto next year. In '95, I encourage more spectators, which were at times nearly non-existent this year. There is more than 20 different sports in ICC, surely something for most people. Also, events like the Emmanuel Sevens and the Union Touch Footy Competition are great fun and important to being involved in, while not being in the ICC calendar as such. Thanks to everyone who helped me this year and remember....

Life is short...

GOLF REPORT

It was a bright, sunny winter's day when four, "champions" set forth to take on the dreaded I.C.C. Golf Day which had previously claimed many a victim. Fallen heroes such as Radcliffe, McGlashan, Matthews and de Rooy were among those who had fought valiantly in those dark days. But from the depths of F Tower came the new leader, Ben "The Irrepressible" Ong whose great swings of blade and medical know-how carved up the opposition with an incredible 103.

Not to be outdone, Ken "Bred for Destruction" Watanabe let loose with a characteristic show of mayhem in his 109. Then came the tall, unassuming figure of Marco "Finish Me" Hansen whose quick wit and sadistic humour enraging both friend and foe alike scoring a quick-fire 94. Finally from the clouds of E Tower came the old guard, survivor of battles now spoken of in folk lore, Paul "Rides like lightning" Carozza proceeded to use all his "ammunition" and later forced to "Retire Hurt". After the day's carnage had ended, these four brave heroes, their names etched in the stuff of legend, would only realise in years to come the full extent of their deeds that day. Their tale will live forever.

Soccer Report

After months of preparation, and strenuous physical exercise, the I.H soccer team was ready. We arrived to play St Leo's, and as both sides were about to start, the Frisbee players decided that they wanted to throw the Frisbee around. Decision, play the game at 10 pm. This almost created a riot, as several players realized that this would mean missing an episode of Star Trek. We lived up to our reputation, outplaying our opposition, however losing the game, this was a continual problem throughout the season.

However, this is not to say that we did not have any highlights. The I.H team was the most fired up I have ever seen. This did result in a few misunderstandings with opposing players. David "Kosta" Curtain and Taimor "The Hammer" Hazou had as much college spirit as possible, and showed this on the field.

Our three great achievements of the season were:

1. Beating St Johns 4-1, and apparently this was their best side for years. Andrew "You mean I don't Catch the ball and yell mark" Leoncelli scored two great goals.
2. Beating Kings 1-0 in our final game of the season. They were certainly happy people that night. Andrew "Goofy" Watson finally scored, after missing chances all season.
3. Clayton "What, I can use my hands" Smales may have cost us a few games (only joking), however, he kept a clean sheet against Kings.

I would like to thank all the players, who would attend games at any notice (thanks I.C.C), and especially all the supporters, who showed how mature and responsible adults can act, and did not drop our standards to those around us.

Athletics

Once again the ICC athletics carnival was held during the second Semester. It is one of several one-day events on the ICC calendar and a super marvellous day was had by all. There was some concern in the lead up to the event regarding the venue. Oval 6 on campus, which is normally used for the carnival was no longer an athletics track, so organisers Leo's and Duchesne were forced to relocate to Indooroopilly State High School. This was probably a good thing because it made people who were in more than one event stay the whole day, where in the past, competitors sometimes get lost for their second and third events.

Anyway, t'was a great day for IH in terms of both results and participation. We had someone in every event and did ourselves very proud. This was due mainly to the excellent organisation of Dion and Alby. Thanks guys. Thanks also to Khemar, Herbie and Heath and anyone else who acted as officials for the day.

IH managed to beat Cromwell in both the Men's and Women's, avoiding the wooden, mainly due to everyone pitching in (especially in the relays) and going in events they normally would not for the team. Congrats to everyone who participated, especially the placegetters-

- * Hurdling duo Stu Ralph and Penny Soper who both smashed the opposition (again) to snare Gold.
- * Stu who also carried his good form to a second in the High Jump and Penny a third in the long jump.
- * Dion a second and third in javelin and discus respectively.
- * Endurance Queen Vicki bunyan who handled the tricky 300m track superbly with a second in the 1500m.
- * Andy Keir hop-step-jumping his way to third.

Apologies to anyone I have forgotten - it is holidays you know.

Once again, thanks everyone and good luck next year.

Clayton Smales - Sports Convenor and filling in for Dion Collins as Athletics Reporter.

Male Volleyball

The 1994 IH Male Volleyball team : Mark, Temo, Greg, Damien, Noel, Ed, Paul, Andrew.

This year's team had a season of mixed fortune, with the final statistics standing at two wins and four losses. This is not to say that we didn't come close to winning those other four matches, but in the fine tradition of IH male sporting teams, we choked. Despite this, we still managed to come in fourth. As in past years, training was a slight problem, with much enthusiasm at the beginning of the season and a decided lack at the end, but this problem was offset by the wealth of talent existing within the team. Special congratulations go to Temo "I like to move it, move it" Raravula, our star setter, for making the ICC team.

Our most consistent player for the season was Ed "The Menace" Pickering, who had the dubious honour of destroying three ankles (none of them his) and his back. The find for the season must go to G r e g Burlin chon, who joined us halfway through the season, but still left his mark on many of the opposition. Thanks to Phillip Cheong as coach, the dedication and perserverance of the team, and to the supporters. With many of the team returning, we may just surprise a few more teams next year.

Andrew Keir.

MALE SWIMMING REPORT

Early in the week .....

Hey Pete, wanna go in the swimming carnival? Nuh!
Hey Temo, wanna go in the swimming carnival? Nuh!
Hey Smalesy, wanna go in the swimming carnival? Nuh!
Hey Chau Min, wanna go in the swimming carnival? Nuh!
Hey Ed, wanna go in the swimming carnival? Nuh!
Hey Matt, wanna go in the swimming carnival? Nuh!
Hey Beno, wanna go in the swimming carnival? Nuh!
Hey Neal, wanna go in the swimming carnival? Nuh!
Hey Watto, wanna go in the swimming carnival? Nuh!
Hey Time, wanna go in the swimming carnival? Nuh!
etc for about 15-20 other guys!!!!

Hmmm, I could be in a bit of trouble here, BUT WAIT!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

A young fresher by the name of Sir Andrew Arthur said he'd have a go. Suddenly another fresher, Damien "Reckless" Kelly said he'd have a go. And amazingly another fresher, "Heath Rose" said he'd have a go. Excellent we've got a relay team. "Anyone want to the 200's???" "Not really", we all said. "Hey DC, wanna go in some 200's?". "Sure, no worries" came the reply.

The next day .....

"Hey Diecko, we've got all the male events filled". "De Rooy, what about the B Relay you silly ninny". "Oh Oh", however Diecko using her seductive ability, charmed Leo, Arash, Chris, Tim, Tamar and Rune "pushover" Jepsen to swim as well. EXCEL-LENT!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

That night .....

Well we came, we saw and we swam ..... Nuff' said BUT .....
WE FILLED EVERY EVENT FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MANY YEARS!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

This was a notable achievement in itself and I'd like to personally thank all of the fellas who willingly gave up their time to swim. Other highlights of the night included: Chris Hee thinking he was swimming the 50m Freestyle instead of the 100m Freestyle, Steve almost hurling after the 200m Free when Dave pulled out, the brawl between blokes from John's and Leo's in front of our area (in addition to the other brawls!) and MOST IMPORTANTLY, OUR EXCELLENT CHEER SQUAD WHO CAME DOWN TO SUPPORT US, "WE LOVE YOU'S ALL!!!" All the fellas would like to congratulate Penny who swam brilliantly to make ICC and the rest of the girls who all put in a great effort. Good on you's!!!!

SNOOKER AND BILLIARDS REPORT

Firstly the team .....

Snooker 1 - Paul "It hurts to be this good!" Carozza

2 - Steve "Hollywood" de Rooy

Billiards 1 - Richo "The Slammer" Kelly

2 - Paul "Winning is Everything" Campbell

After months, nay years of training on the college pool table, the world reknowned International House Snooker and Billiards team entered the fracas of ICC Competition for another year. This year was unlike many of the years past where IH had made the wooden spoon it's own. This year we became one of the feared sides in ICC. Players from other colleges learned to cringe under their billiards tables when we were to play them, not mutter a word when we played out shots and run in fear from our warcries of "This game's just too easy", "Thanks for the white" and "Don't waste my time". Our bewildered opponents fell apart when graced with our sheer presence. None more so than Leo's whose side took every opportunity to choke. It was only later that we discovered that our thrashing of their side led them to lose the coveted ICC Cup. Bad luck boys. Kings followed suit with Leos and also faced a demoralising loss. Ditto with Johns. Union, particularly their snooker team, must admit they had no idea - with obvious results. The final victims were the puppies from Emmanuel but at least they had a good table to play on. The only team to defeat us this year were Cromwell who deserve congratulations for winning ICC. In the final standing of Snooker and Billiards 1994, International House finished a strong 2nd, the best placing by any International House Male sports team for over 5 years. Congratulations must go to all the players for a fine season and especially to Carozza (also known by the nickname: Warren Paul) Shit-hot Sjoberg for achieving ICC nomination.

Steve de Rooy

1994 Hockey Report

What a promising year it looked. With the return of a few legends, and the influx of first years who had talent (just ask them), surely we could put it all in and win a few games. But alas the pages of history tell another tale. Some call it fate, but I think the lack of practice by the team could have something to do with it.

The injury list this year was almost as short as the goal list. Hands seem to be the most commonly attacked part ( which make a change from heads), and the inevitable ankle and knee injuries.

The question has been answered. Scott ' When the hell is he going to leave' Radcliff is finally leaving, and the hockey team for one is going to be the poorer for his leaving. Other great players such as Greg Campbell will also be leaving, but hopefully the plurality of expertise will predominate.

The future looks promising. We can't go much further backwards.

All up the season was rather surprising, somewhat akin to a kick in the head. It had its good points, and it could hurt a lot, but you don't want it to stop. I would like to thank all those who played, the ring-ins and the spectators. I would also like to thank Ed Pickering for no particular reason at all.

Cross Country Report

The entire year, we members of college were mentally preparing themselves for the greatest event on the I.H. calender.....no, not the I.H. Ball, but the ICC Cross country. All the hard work had been done the week before (ie. a few people had gone for a few jogs), and now the time had come. The cross country was chosen this year to share the same date as the ball, and, amazingly, we had the best turnout for years, with twelve guys VOLUNTEERING, to run "only 5 km". Everyone who started finished, and although we didn't quite mix it with the other colleges, some good performances were put in by all, with Leo, Watto, Harry and Dan leading the way, and the others (Beno, Heath, Chau Min, Andy A., Steve, and Greg C., who caused masses of excitement with his sprint at the end to sneak past Damien on the line) not too far behind.

The cross country was also special this year because it was an event in which the guys really showed the girls how to do things right, as, quite shamefully, not a single girl could take time off from preparing for the Ball to attend.

A HUGE special thanks must go to Leo, Steve, Beno, Watto, and Greg, who woke up of their own accord early the next morning so as to ensure that I.H. had a relay team for the first time in years. Unfortunately, the curse that has been hanging over all previous attempts surfaced again, as I had made a major stuff up with starting time, and we arrived half an hour too late. To those members I haven't apologised to yet, I do now, and you can beat me up later (that also goes for anyone I have missed who also ran).

Stu Ralph (Cross-country convenor)

P.S. next year we will get the date, the place and the time right, and bury this curse forever!!

CRICKET REPORT

- Andrew Watson (Cricket Convenor)

Absolute Shocker! As a team we promised much at the start of the season, even prompting me to believe we could go close to winning ICC. Unfortunately we delivered nothing. Star new recruits such as Dion Collins, Andrew Leoncelli, and Andrew Keir meant our bowling attack was very strong but although we could restrict sides to very modest totals, our batting was very mediocre.

Losing every toss didn't help matters as I had to inform the hung-over players we would once again be bowling first with a slippery wet ball. Andrew Keir proved a real nuisance to most opposition batsmen with his left arm swing and he was ably supported by Leo, Ed, Mark, and Dion 'How many no balls can I bowl' Collins. The batting was not quite up to the same standard. This was illustrated by the fact Pete Barger was second in the averages until midway through the season. Most games enables our tail to wag with people like Beno and Pete scoring most of the runs.

Cromwell. Cromwell were unable to field a team for any other game of the year but managed to beat us easily. After much frivolity in the field, Cromwell were restricted to under 100. but alas our top order failed and it was left for the better batsmen of the team, the tail, to pull us through. We lost.

Many thanks to everyone who played this season, and especially to Stu Ralph who helped with much of the scoring. We may have been very unsuccessful but I think most of us had a lot of fun doing it!

The low light of the season came when lost our last game to

P.S. Don't ever let Smalesy wicketkeep again!

Male Squash

The season started on a high note and, surprisingly enough, finished on a high note. Ackchully what happened was that Damien Kelly won his first match (which is the high note on which male squash started) and I won my final match against some Kings fella (which is the high note male squash finished on).

We started off with some student club money in the bank of which we did use some for training but in the end it would have been more useful to just split it four ways. We did quite well at training though - in fact we won almost every time we trained. I can remember one session against Kings where I said "Watto, with your speed, you should be hitting the ball on the ground and legging it out." Each night we'd all pray to the squash god 'Jobu' to take the fear from our bats but he did not come so I tied an onion to my belt (as was the fashion at the time) but I had to use a yellow onion because white onions were in shortage because of the war.

Injuries were pretty cool. Everyone got hit at least a couple of times by our opponents. I can recall one occasion where I was hit in the jaw and knee within the space of one rally and Damien hit his guy twice. It was fun to see Carozza play after eating four fried chickens, some dry white toast, and a Coke - not to mention giving blood beforehand too. Nearly perished. Awibble.

Our fitness must have been okay because none of us threw up after any of our games. 'Twas an interesting season of ICC squash with a grand total of approximately 50 supporters whom I'd like to thank but none were from I.H.

What happened to our team now I hear you ask? Andrew "Smeeg-Head-with-a-big-waddy-nose" Watson is currently. Warren Paul Cameron "sorry-Croz-can't-spell-ya-last-name-play-some-Billy-Joel" Showberg has taken up making home-brew. Damien "I-am-an-annoying-prick-and-the-only-reason-I'm-on-the-team-is-because-my-brother-is-a-good-friend-of-the-convenor" Kelly has made me realise, after living in college with him, why his brother used to be very rude to him and hit him a lot. Ed "You're-a-duck-Lisa-needs-braces-dental-plan" Pickering was not in the team but I thought I'd wish him a happy 21st. Peter "Kwijiboe" Barger and Marco "Wall-oven-Indooroopilly-tea-speen-lollipop-Art-wank-I-need-a-fish" Salvio and Clayton "the-place-you-come-back-to-g'day-dad" Smales also were not in the team. Special thanks to those I failed to mention and to Sam Korman and Peter Chappel of the "Electric Pandas" for being in no way similar to Nic "ya-a-puff" Saw.

Thanks for your support
M. James McGlashan (Male Squash Convenor)

The season was probably the best season of male rowing for many years. We had a HUGE turnout at the first rowing meeting forming two teams. Even though almost all of us were complete novices, we were all keen to learn. Unlike previous years, we stored our makeshift boat in the GPS shed instead of the ICC shed. This forced us to travel to the other side of the river to train but at least we found our boat in the same condition as we left it! Training began early in the semester. This consisted of waking up at 5 a.m. a few mornings a week and paddling up and down the river for an hour or two. Thanks to Dave Rahal for driving us each morning. Over the duration of the season, both teams rowed in several regattas in the 3rd's and 4th's divisions achieving some good placings. This cumulated in our aim of rowing in the ICC Regatta. Earlier in the year we also staged a very successful combined Regatta with Cromwell. Both teams would like to thank coaches, Frankie Cutts (Team 1) and particularly Tim Woodman (Team 2) whose experience, advice and boat repair skills proved invaluable over the season. I'd personally like to thank my fellow convenor, Cheyenne, for a great job and finally to all those who came out each Sunday afternoon to support I.H. Rowing 1994.

THE 1994 CULTURAL YEAR

1994 saw a cultural revolution take place in college. The whole cultural program took a MAJOR facelift, beginning with a visit to the Van Gogh exhibition, closely followed by another art connoisseurs trip to view the work of Renoir. Having become appreciative of the visual art world, keen I.Hers tried to come to terms with the Queensland Ballet's unique Production of Sleeping Beauty. Meanwhile the "at home" cultural programme got underway with a mentally challenging games night featuring Pictionary, Trivial Pursuit darts and Guess Who (sorry Barger - females are definitely better at this game!). As a result of Games Night, the college procrastinators have maintained this tradition throughout the year.

Variety Night was indisputably a memorable event. Who could ever forget the sight of Prem, Carozza and Smalsey stripping down to their boxers, or Greg's Scottish flirt? Let alone Rachel and Co's German singing and Lars smashing a poor, innocent gnome into a million pieces (I still don't get it!). Thanks to Megs and Nic for their spontaneous and creative commentary! The enthusiasm displayed for choir at the beginning of the year was beyond all expectations. Thanks to all those who remained committed and who gave a great performance at formal dinner. Hopefully we can make a strong comeback for Choral Fest next year.

This year's debating team was very impressive. The I.H team was very talented and consequently with the support of fellow collegians came an outstanding third in the ICC competition. Thanks to Natalie for all her hard organisational work. Last, but not least, the Art Show gave us all a chance to appreciate the talented artists that live in college and to wonder about what really goes on on 3rd floor D-Tower. Rachel, Stu, Jo and Sonke's fruitcake shrine certainly attracted a lot of attention. Meanwhile, certain others enjoyed the plentiful wine and cheese (Bonita - you make wine drinking an art!!).

Overall, I.H came 6th in the ICC cultural cup. Thanks to Herb for convening a great cultural year and to Stu for his much needed help. Thanks also to all those who lent a hand at some time throughout the year. Here's to a culturally diverse I'H next year!

Debating Report

Regularly seen rushing at breakneck speed in long robes designed purposely for tripping over, and searching for those elusive palm-cards and dictionaries, this year's I.H. Debating Team consisted of a "variety" of members - Angela Greenwood, Georgie Vun, Taimor Hazou, Hubert Tse and Natalie Phillips.

Our first debate, While resulting in a very convincing victory over Women's, involved perhaps the most substantial and thought provoking topic ever considered, "That Bronwyn Bishop is Satan". Highly skilful exploitation (and a LITTLE good fortune in securing the negative side of the topic) started the season as we meant (translation: devoutly hoped) to continue it.

Subsequent debates on such topics as the economy and the environment provided equally enjoyable boasts at Formal Dinner. Saying "we won again" after all in not very difficult! And then... disaster! Three successes under our belts, assured entry into the finals and a close debate against Cromwell demanded a change in the formal dinner speech. In others, one the subject of Australia moving closer to Asia, we lost! Eh bien: C'est la vie!

They do say revenge is sweet though - scarcely a fortnight later in the first round of the finals before on I.H. crowd, Cromwell heads began to roll. Negative, on the topic of "napalming the global village" we humbly secured a berth in the second round of the finals!

Placing us among the top four teams in the competition, our last debate against Emmanuel concerning the influence of the mass media was a valiant one. However, we must admit to being thoroughly outclassed on that night.

Thanks must go to all support; irregular and regular, enduring and transient. Debating rarely attracts numbers, yet I.H. supporters easily outnumbered those from opposing teams, both at home and away. Thanks also to those who chaired, Cristy and Ling; to Stuart Ralph our "equipment officer", the others who helped, and especially to Hereadae, who was always there when I had many a query.

Soiree Report

Soiree was really fun. There were lots of people and balloons and food. And beer. Songs and costumes were there too. The clouds loomed and bustled. Boy did they look cranky! But everything was alright in the end. Luckily, there was not much tupperware, except for the stuff that visitors concealed in their tunics.

The crowd cheered and surge, rising and falling like a midnight tide, as we laughed and grinned, in the dancing-est festival in the Southern Hemisphere. We drew chickens in the sand and wept a little with joy. Insistent tom-toms beat and strange bone flutes whittled a hypnotic tune from the wooden air.

As sunset came, we discovered that we were tired, so we took our multiculturalism and went home. That night we used it for a party.

After that, Gazebo Boy resolved to use his powers for good instead of evil. Diane from the kitchen tried to arrest him, insisting he had no jurisdiction. Gazebo Boy fled in mortal terror, and wrote a long and rambling report of the day's happenings. That document is what you now hold in your hands. The only lead we have points to Puerto Rico and a tall Lacrosse player. Good luck.

SOCIAL REPORT

The Social events of the past year will now be recapped for those of you who were:

- (a) unfortunate enough not to go!
- (b) unfortunate enough not to remember going!
- (c) had such a good time you want to reminisce over everything!

All of the Social events this year were such a roaring success that, of course, the majority of college members fall into category (c)!

The social year for 1994 has been one of ups and downs with Ward Levingston leaving in the middle of the year and Pete having to tackle the remainder of first semester events almost single-handedly. Great Job Pete! (And thanks to everyone else who helped out).

COLLEGE PARTIES

The college party's have been well patronised throughout the year with such diverse themes as the Mexican Party (ondela onдела yeeha), the Beach Party (cool glasses Pete) and the Bad Taste Party (so what's new?) among many other fun-filled fiestas in the beer garden! The non-alcoholic dance party in second semester was a fantastic event, well organised by Peter Vun and Greg Campbell. Thankyou to all those people (especially Paul Campbell, Tim Woodman, and Andrew Kier) who worked at nearly every college party so that we could all have an enjoyable evening.

DINNER DANCE

The theme for the dinner dance this year was Space..... (and we all wished we had a bit more space between us and Matt in the bus!) The dinner was heaps of fun with the dining room being transformed into a space extravaganza! Costumes were varied but all were imaginative at the least! The Boat Cruise followed and after a few minor mishaps the fun-filled evening carried on! The boat cruise was certainly an evening to remember...or not - as the case may be!

Thanks very much to everyone who helped out in the organisation of everything, your help was greatly appreciated.

ICC EVENTS

ICC had a number of social events this year, from the pub crawl to the ICC ball. A few college members attended these events and enjoyed integrating with the other colleges.

Ball Report

The Ball this year was held at Petrie Terrace Restaurant. It was extremely well patronised (Thanks everyone) and the food and music were enjoyed by everyone.....with some enjoying their beverages just a little too much! A number of representatives from other colleges came and enjoyed the food, hopefully we'll continue to have more integration with other colleges in the future.

We moved onto the Gig after dinner for a bit more dancing and excitement- and the night turned into early morning!

Thanks again to everyone who supported Pete and I this year and participated wholeheartedly in all of the college events. Good luck to Pete Vun and Matt McGlashan the social convenors for next year, I'm sure they'll do a fabulous job!

IHAC Report

1994 has been a successful year for IHAC. This was due to the amount of people who supported me throughout the year. I just would like to say thank you to those who attended the Rotary dinners and particularly to those who were brave enough to give speeches in front of a whole group of Rotarians. Also, thank you to those who helped me to put the Know Your Neighbour together, special thanks to Steve who spent hours and hours in Clubs and Socs to get the magazines printed. Thank you to Marlies Brown, Rand Hazou, Dr Stuart McEachen, Joanne Miller, Stuart Ralph and Mrs Holm for helping me with the selection of the achievement awards. And to many other people who helped me with any other events that happened in 1994.

Best wishes and luck to Rachel Cobcroft as the IHAC 1995.

Achievement Awards

HEREADAE KWAN

Hereadae has always been willing to lend a hand and participate in events, even on short notice. She puts full commitment into everything she does. Perhaps her most amazing achievement has been the total rejuvenation of the position of Cultural Convenor. She has gone beyond what was expected of her and has put a huge amount of time and effort into increasing college awareness of and participation in the many cultural events that she has organised. These include the Art Exhibition, plays and Variety Night.

achieve if you commit yourself to a goal and work hard to achieve it. Yoriko has offered her services to cook Japanese food not only for her floor but for D Tower as well, declining to eat it once done on the grounds that it was for D Tower residents. She was a key member of the volleyball team and her enthusiasm and encouragement to other members was inspirational. Quite rightly, this earned her a position in the ICC volleyball team. Perhaps not so well known is her total commitment to learning English. Every spare moment of Yoriko's time is spent on the computer transcribing page after page of books in order to improve her English skills. Her progression has been astounding culminating in an article for JEN.

YORIKO YAMADA

Yoriko is a role model for Australian and International students of how to use life at International House to the utmost and what you can

She has also done volunteer Japanese tutoring and has provided valuable support for her fellow Japanese students.

CLARE SCANLAN

Unknown to many and without drawing attention to herself, Clare has offered to help clean up without having to be asked both before and after events. On her own initiative, she has helped with college parties, Sunday Suppers and Soiree. Without fuss, Clare has often been doing the dirty jobs well after everyone has begun to enjoy themselves. Preparation every night for Soiree is an excellent example of this. Clare is also a good supporter of college sporting events and has also achieved an excellent GPA. Her help to other students within her course has been indispensable. She has also offered her services as a college tutor.

His enthusiasm for these subjects is reflected in the extra effort he has spent organising the tutorials and offering personal encouragement. In his time as an IH resident Mark has achieved ICC selection for cricket, been Vice President of the Student Club and a very keen, committed member of the Sponsorship Committee. However, possibly Mark's greatest endeavours and achievement during his residency has been the way he has quietly walked alongside those in need of help.

NATALIE PHILLIPS

Despite a heavy workload as a first year medicine student, Natalie has found time to participate in, and contribute to, many college activities. Her efforts through Soiree were outstanding. She participated in many college sporting teams. She was the IH Debating convenor and a member of the team that reached the semi-finals. Natalie's contributions extend beyond college. She travels hours each week to tutor students outside of college. Her maturity is such that many look to her for advice, support and leadership. She is always ready to provide academic and personal assistance.

MARK KEIR

Mark has shown a notable commitment this year on the college's volleyball scene, both as a player and coach. He has also continued to participate in soccer, athletics hockey and cricket. This commitment to sport is balanced by his commitment to the social and academic well-being of college residents. This year, as a Maths and Statistics Tutor, Mark has made a concerted effort to help students comprehend the intricacies of these subjects.

GREG CAMPBELL

Since his arrival in college four years ago Greg Campbell has been at the forefront of organising college activities. This year, for example, Greg organised the Schlinder's Lost film night, chess afternoons and the very successful non-alcoholic party. He was also Soiree Concert Manager for the second time - and did the job with verve and style we have come to expect from him. This year, too, Greg undertook to rejuvenate the IH Choir - the choir performance at formal dinner reflected Greg's enthusiasm. On top of all this, Greg maintained his sports involvement and performed in Variety Night. He has also found time for ambassadorial duties with visiting Rotary clubs.

TRASAN SHIU

For the past two years Trasan has been a Soiree Food Convenor, easily the most stressful position apart from Soiree Convenor. Her strict organisational skill has helped to ensure that the food was prepared with few crises. This year she almost single-handedly organised the IH Annual World Understanding and Peace Lecture. Few people realised just how difficult this job was and how well she organised it. In a similar manner, as IH Awareness Committee Convenor, she organised the visits by Rotary clubs to the college.

KATIE STRIDE

During her time in college, Katie stood for and gained the positions of Kanyana Editor, Soiree Convenor and Student Club Secretary - all demanding jobs. Katie exhibited exceptional organisational skills, commitment and perseverance in each of these roles, doing far more in each of them than the job description required. This year, Katie had to juggle her work and academic commitments with her duties as D Tower Senior Resident. Her door is always open to those who need someone to listen. She has maintained regular sporting commitments, playing netball, touch football and swimming, and being an enthusiastic supporter for college games whenever possible.
